

MARKET TIMING
For Short Term Income & Long Term Wealth

This eye-opening introduction to market timing is designed for:

- ANYONE who wants to make money in the markets ... short term income or long term wealth.
- ANYONE who has been frustrated because their losses keep their wins from making them consistently profitable.
- ANYONE who had been misled by bad advice from the media, a broker, a trading book, class or any other source of "expert" guidance.
- ANYONE who has attempted a technical or fundamental analysis approach to trading and discovered it is overly complex with disappointing results.
- ANYONE who wants to explore their goals as a trader or investor and understand how world-class trading education can help them.

ONLINE TRADING
♦ ACADEMY ♦

MARKET TIMING For Short Term Income & Long Term Wealth

Financial markets are driven by supply and demand. When there is an imbalance of willing buyers and willing sellers, price tends to change direction—often dramatically. Institutional traders know how to pinpoint these market turning points with a high degree of accuracy, and that is why they are more successful than the retail traders they trade against.

In the Market Timing course, you'll learn how you can begin to think and act like the banks, hedge funds and professional traders as you plan and execute your own trades or investment decisions. The key is our patent pending supply and demand trading strategy which allows you to pick high-potential, low-risk entry and exit points in the markets.

Over three intensive days of class time, in our Market Timing course, you'll be introduced to this strategy and you'll work with your Education Counselor who will help you make the most of the course material. Together you will develop a plan and set your own objectives for wealth creation, for short-term income, or both. At the conclusion of the Market Timing course, you'll be ready to plot your own educational path toward becoming a master trader or just a better investor.

Learn how to look for opportunities in any market and any asset class.

Instead of trading on hunches and emotion, you'll discover how the pros find market opportunity hiding in plain sight. Price charts do not lie. They tell the truth about where actual orders were filled. Find out where the last buyer bought or the last seller sold, and you know where price is likely to change direction when it returns to that level. We'll show you how this works complete with specific examples in the class.

Understand the unique benefits of each asset class, and what you need to know to trade them successfully.

- Trade equities (stocks) with a new perspective on supply and demand that's simpler yet more powerful than fundamental or technical analysis.
- Use Forex strategies to hedge against currency shifts or as your primary trading vehicle, as you trade toe to toe with international banks.
- Use options in new and sophisticated ways to reduce risk, generate income, and protect your wealth portfolio.
- Trade futures for leverage, in around the clock markets and to hedge against risk in other asset classes.
- Be your own wealth manager and direct your own retirement plan.
- Or, trade multiple asset classes to increase your opportunities in the markets and your potential for success.

At the conclusion of this class you'll better understand:

- Our core "supply and demand" trading strategy for any trading style including intraday, swing and position trading.
- How to define your trading plan to fit your goals for monthly income and retirement security.
- ✓ ■ Why you need leverage and how to get it, when trading for short term income.
- How to evaluate trading as a business including tax advantages, audit risks and why you may want to consider incorporating.
- ✓ ■ How you can control your risk by setting and managing stops to keep possible losses small and gains at a 3:1 or better ratio.

- How to recognize market traps that can cause the unwary or inexperienced trader to make costly mistakes.
- How to get paid for not owning a stock, by selling cash secured puts.
- How to analyze your own schedule, temperament and wealth objectives in order to design the right trading style for your financial goals.

And, most important, you'll know how to chart YOUR future educational path at Online Trading Academy. Your Education Counselor will help you match your goals and our curriculum so you can maximize your opportunities and start making live trades as soon as possible.

Get real market insights from the pros. The instructors at Online Trading Academy are all experienced traders who generously share their knowledge and their perspective on current market conditions during the Market Timing course. Listen closely and you will gain valuable insights along with actual trades we have taken, and our rationale, so you can learn from our experience. There are five potential outcomes to any trade. Eliminate just one of them and you're left with a formula for success. By learning skills for setting and moving your stops you can do just that—and we'll show you how.

Learn the components of a successful trading or investing Strategy...In The Market Timing Course.

“Stop buying into all time highs.
Stop buying into supply levels.
Stop selling into demand. Stop selling when there are good buying opportunities.”

-- Online Trading Academy Instructor

The Online Trading Academy Story

The largest trading room on the U.S. West Coast, circa 1997.

Online Trading Academy:

The world's most trusted name in trader and investor education.

Online Trading Academy is unique among educational institutions because our roots are not in teaching, but in the real world of financial trading. We operated the largest trading floor in the Western United States and tutored our own traders to make profitable decisions using our accounts. Realizing that our greatest strength was in teaching traders how to be successful in the markets, we made the transition to an institution focused exclusively on education. Over the past decade our growth has been exponential; Online Trading Academy education is now available at 34 financial education centers around the world and more than 150,000 investors have experienced our training. With the addition of online and expanded continuing education courses, students anywhere in the world now have the ability to benefit from an Online Trading Academy education.

NYSE Liffe

NASDAQ

CME Group

The world's most trusted name in professional trader and investor education™