

1Shot2Kill.journal

journal.AUGUST.2017

MONTHLY JOURNAL

August 19, 2017
Authored by: TraderTS

1Shot2Kill.journal

journal.AUGUST.2017

Now WHAT???

Sunrise @Las Colinas, Texas

AUGUST 1997 Early Retirement!

Weekend “getaway” on 20th Anniversary of my early retirement - it’s my sister’s birthday too... so we decided to spend time here with her two children as well.

It was the weekend; it’s a “ghost” town. Mandalay Canal was empty, offices and shops closed. Luxury condominium and apartments are everywhere now, but no one even takes the time to walk/jog in the beautiful neighborhood. It was totally opposite of what I have remembered. During past summer festivities, my sister and I used to take her kids to my company’s swimming pool in the morning, then went to Mandalay Canal for late lunch and window shopping. It usually ended with a long walk in the afternoon. There was even “water-taxi” as transportation - that’s what I liked and remembered the most.

A mentor from my first Chat room asked me to join her new Chat room in China. All I need to do is to install their apps; she asked if I have iPhone or Android phone, iPad or PC with Windows10. I replied “Sorry... but no, no, no, and no”. Oh... I am still using a Windows phone since Christmas 2013.

Among all my desktops and laptops, five are from SONY vs. four are from DELL. I use each one of them almost 24/7 until the next best model that I needed to replace. The latest 2014 SONY 2in1 laptop, run on Windows 8 6GB Memory with Intel Core i5 Processor was the last computer that I bought before their Galleria’s store closed and announced SONY is no longer in the PC business—I am a big fan, so sad to hear that!

In June, I took this laptop on a trip to Austin. It was infected with viruses and spyware. I left it alone for now and will not try to fix it until I do backup for all the files. I immediately used a DELL Windows7 desktop that I bought as a backup computer a few years back to enter the JULY Journal Challenge.

As if I am being cursed, that backup computer CRASHED one week after I entered the Challenge!

To cheer me up, my sister took me shopping at Best Buy and bought a DELL laptop that runs on Windows10 8GB Memory with Intel Core i3 Processor. I can’t wait to install Ninja Trader 8 platform, and XABCD Suite.

XXXX (pardon my language). It’s defective; I returned it within three days. I have seen awesome computer setups from FIO Battlestations Challenge... Depressed and unable to focus on trading.... I wonder what to do next??? I stopped journaling and went “MIA” indefinitely!

...Trading kept me from going “insane”, learning Harmonic Patterns saved my Trading Career! But what I need now is an awesome trading workstation.