

1Shot2Kill.journal

journal.NOVEMBER.2017

MONTHLY JOURNAL

November 23, 2017
Authored by: TraderTS

1Shot2Kill.journal

journal.NOVEMBER.2017

Awaiting my Dreamy Trading WorkStation...

New Home Office @Dallas, Texas

November 23rd Almost ten years in the making, I am finally using my first trading Thanksgiving profit from last five weeks to buy my Dream Trading WorkStation.

When I lost it all and more, I was in love with PowerTrio Multi-screen monitors from Digital Tigers. It was ten times more expensive than now. I felt in love again when I saw their latest model: Stratosphere UltraView Mini with Samsung 49C Curved 4K Display. An all-in-one systems 4K UHD workstation with virtual multiple monitors.

I loved it so much that I promised myself I may only buy it with my trading profit in the next couple months! That's the motivation that I needed to get me out of my current depression. I made strict trading plans and executed them—no social life, no social media, no happy hours, no phone calls, and no text messages during trading hours on weekdays.

I went to bed two hours after dinner, got up before 1:00 am ET. Lucky for me, my dying DELL desktop was cooperating. I had enough trading profit using Auction Dashboard Order Flow within a month; but I said, "Wait... I needed another $1000 US Dollars to buy the extra upgrades." I achieved it by Thanksgiving holiday.

Oops! I didn't have a bigger office for it! Only one more month before next calendar year for tax purpose.

Therefore, I decided to wait and took the time to remodel my parents' living room as an office, myself. Giving away their old furniture first, then cleaned like it's never been cleaned before.... I painted one day and rested two days, painted two days then rested one week, crying-out-loud! Fingers swollen, felt pain all over my body... Thanks goodness, my friend offered to do most of the painting herself at the end.

My younger brother moved my furniture and stuff from the guest house. I didn't realize that I have so much stuff!!! I haven't bought anything the last ten years. I don't need to buy anything else now; and I even have a day-bed for the office. I could have an estate sale--Joking to my friend who loves going to estate sales on weekends. New home office (front) will be ready by Christmas; I will place the purchase order one day after New Year.

...Every day is a Groundhog Day! Eat, sleep, homework, trade.